Making the Journey a little easier...

It is the Class of 1995's pleasure to dedicate this yearbook to Mr. William Chernik. Since 1965, Mr. Chernik has worked hard to make sure that each of his students get's the most out of the classes he teaches, yet have fun while learning.

If you haven't had Mr. Chernik for a math teacher, you may know him as one of the "Driver's Ed" teachers, or maybe you've seen him whistling his way through the halls. No matter how you know Mr. Chernik, it is agreed upon that he gives the school a relaxed atmosphere where all students, freshmen to seniors, can look forward to school everyday.

Mr., Chernik is a very dedicated teacher that will always put his students above all else. Teaching a complicated subject such as math, Mr. Chernik realizes that students tend to need help outside of the classroom, and he is always willing to help them gain a better understanding of a topic.

Mr. Chernik is a man who is also able to listen and talk to students about anything from driving to sports. One of his greatest qualities is his devotion toward the well-being of his students. If a student has a problem outside of the classroom, or just needs to talk to someone, that person to talk to is Mr. Chernik. He is always there to listen, regardless of the problem.

A man whom all can confide in, Mr. Chernik is a remarkable educator and friend, who has accomplished the goal of most educators: To help kids look back on their schooling as something enjoyable. From the Class of 1995, we thank Mr. Chernik for his guidance and devotion, not only to us, but to all of those he has taught.

O ur time here seems to have passed too easily, too quickly. Four years ago walking through those big doors was no easy task, but no start of any journey is easy. Now it is a frequently traveled road. The daily journey that we take has come easily for some, and not as easy for others. We have journeyed together along this road for a long time, but now the time has come for us to choose different roads; start out on new journeys of our own.

It won't be so easy to leave for most, but for some it will be too easy to say good-bye. We've grown and changed together during our four year journey and must now start a new journey by ourselves. The road of life awaits. It hasn't always been easy, but I'm sure that we would say that our, four year, long, strange journey was worth it.

Jobs...

A Journey in search of money

Work... Hi-Ho It's off to work we go! This could be the theme song for about half of our juniors and seniors.

But why do they work?

Many students dedicate a lot of their after school life to work. While some jobs are often detested by students because of the time they require, these jobs can create a source of income and give a student a sense of responsibility. Money earned from working can be put toward, a car, car insurance or spending money.

For some it may be just having some coins in their pockets. For others it's the ability to pay for a trip to Europe, to go on a special Outing Club trip, or to take that certain someone to the prom in a limo.

Then there's college. Many students' parents can not pay for the full ride at some colleges and students have to make up the difference for tuition or spending money.

"I work because I need to pay for part of my college education," said Heather Mackintosh, "and also to get the little extra things that I want."

Homecoming '94...

As we walked through the volcano, the eruption of the music exploded, and Homecoming '94 kicked off. The weather outside was cold, but the atmosphere inside was warm and tropical. From the pep rally, to the football game, to the dance that night, school spirit was high.

Friday afternoon, the seniors finally got their chance to run into the gym and strut their stuff. The other classes gave ample support to all the sports teams. On Saturday, led by the Garbage Can Band, the crowd cheered on the Bobcat Football team.

But even after a devastating loss to Windham that afternoon, Bobcat fans were overwhelmed by the Luau theme and ready to party. Decorations and participation in the entire week, once again kept the homecoming spirit alive.

Prom '94

"We've Got Tonight"

It's easy to party

The evening of May 6, 1994. The then junior class went to their prom. They came wearing their neat tuxedos, their sleek gowns and arrived in their stretch limosines at the Sheraton Hotel near the airport. As the students entered the Sheraton they walked into a mood that was set by the music being played by a pianist. The photographer was set up and waiting to take photos of the happy couples dressed in their best attire.

Dinner was served after everyone had the opportunity to socialize and dance. "There was too much spice in the stuffing," commented Bryan Griffin, but for most of the students, the dinner was an enjoyable one.

The DJ played song after song, to the delight of everyone. As senior Melanie Zima said, "The music was full of variety and I had a really good time." Amy Beaudoin commented, "I thought that the prom was a lot of fun because I got to spend an exciting evening with all of my friends!"

Color photos of the prom are on pages 174 & 175

Coffee House

The new beat generation starts its own Journey.

For about a year and a half now, South Windsor High School has held a Coffee House in its cafeteria. There is no charge for admission but you are expected to bring canned food for the less fortunate. Many local bands perform here and they are definitely worth hearing. Other students enjoy reading poetry either of their own making or of their favorite poet. Some students have even performed dance acts.

At one memorable Coffee House, SPAM was the meal of the evening. The SPAM was used in many unique h'ourdeurvs such as SPAM jello, and pineapple SPAM. Everyone who attends leaves with a smile on their face. A good time is always had by all.

Bobcat Spirit

May the Spirit always come easy!

This year's school spirit was something to behold. Everyone seemed to be really excited about the SWHS athletic teams. Throughout the week prior to the pep rally, students showed thier spirit by dressing up and taking part in the various activities that were held. Beacause this year's graduating seniors were so full of spirit and did an awesome job in planning the class of '96 has a lot of planning ahead of them if they want to supersede this year's mad Bobcat fans.

Many students at this year's Homecoming dance enjoyed refreshments at the annual tailgate party before the football game. This year's tailgate included, a barbecue, wild hats, drums and one loud megaphone which challenged the even louder Hawaiian shirts. The infamous "garbage can band" led the cheering at most of the football games and the pep rally. Senior and garbage can band member, Dan Jordan, declares, "I hope that the upcoming classes continue the school spirit tradition, and the residents of South Windsor keep buying new metal trash cans so that the band legacy can live on." Junior Ryan Joy said, "It was a lot of fun."

The only question that remains is how much spirit will be in the school next year? The answer is left in hands of the underclassmen who own megaphones. Will the pep rally next year contain as much ruckus as this year's did or will they make SWHS history by being the first class to display thier school spirit in a safe and mature manner? For now, we are just going to have to wait and see.

Activities

Helping to Ease the Journey

SWAT

...helping others to make the journey easier

SWAT's major undertaking this year was the "We are the Children" Foundation, an organization that helps needy children throughout the country by supplying money and gifts. With over 100 members, they are the largest organization in the school. SWAT organized many different fund-raisers and events for the foundation, including building and decorating gingerbread houses and making Christmas reindeer decorations with Wapping Elementary School. Led by co-presidents Kelley Gerrity and Heather Staples, the activities of SWAT include ushering all school plays and concerts, putting together the new student breakfast, working with administrators on the annual college and career night, and giving up valuable study time to tutor other students during their free periods.

This group not only works on activities in school, but also with the Junior Women's Club and Youth Services on community projects. It is apparent that this organization works hard to assist others in any way that they can. When asked what the main goal of SWAT is, advisor Mr. Marchetti responded, "The main goal is for students to give of themselves to help others." This is something we should all try to do as often as we can.

Student Council

This year the Student Council was a very prominent organization in school. They arranged many events, including the "Lights of Love" campaign for the Ronald McDonald House, the annual food drive against Rockville during the week of Thanksgiving, and the Jingle Bell walk for arthritis. The events most remembered by the school are Spirit Week and the Pep Rally. Hundreds of students dressed up for the different days, such as toga day and formal day, and because of the lack of a pep rally the previous year, this year's was a success.

The Student Council's 60 members work closely with SWAT on school related events, such as acting as tour guides and serving refreshments at the parent's Open House. But unlike SWAT, which only has co-presidents, Student Council elect their officers to five different positions. Alissa Kasevich was voted president, Mike Redd to vice-president, the treasurer is Lynn Rapoza, the secretary is Carly Anderson, and the Board of Trustees representative is David Miscia. These officers lead the council to promote school spirit through student involvement in activities and events. The goal of the student council is to build a strong connection between the student body, the faculty, staff, and the administration.

National Honor Society

Striving to be the best isn't always easy

It hasn't been an easy journey for these students who strive for excellence every day of their high school lives. National Honor Society is an organization that brings the achievements of outstanding students to the attention of their classmates, parents, community, and the colleges they plan to attend.

These students strive to put practical meaning to the society's dedication to scholarship, service, leadership and character. The National Honor Society has recognized these students for their academic accomplishments and their dedication to South Windsor High School. These students have made many great accomplishments through out their high school life and should be role models for all students.

Peer Advocates

Below: Ann-Marie Fraginis and Becky Matteson talk with each other about topics that may come up during an advocates meeting.

The Peer Advocates are a group of students who give up time everyday to help some of their peers in dealing with their problems. Whether it's a school related or a social issue, they can help. The Peer Advocates go through a training course in the fall called Foundations in Counseling. This course prepares the advocates for the problems that they will deal with. It is a completely confidential service which has been proven to be very successful. The Peer Advocates are for anyone who just needs to talk. There is always an advocate located in the guidance office who is ready to help.

Bike Club

Some people may not think that peddling hard and sweating while riding uphill is fun, but the members of the bike club do. These students conquer rough trails and put in long, hard hours to train themselves in order to travel some of the roughest trails in Connecticut. Some of these trails include the Shanipset Trail from Ellington to Stafford, the Rail to Trail ride in North Hampton, MA, the Soapstone Mountain, and other various road trips through northern Connecticut.

Unified Sports Team

Participating as members of the Special Olympics, the Unified Sports Team at South Windsor High School takes part in many different competitions. Our team has competed in soccer games and basketball games throughout the state.

Members of the team are students from South Windsor High School and from the special needs program. They are a very successful team that has promoted the abilities of the people who take part in the Special Olympics. Everyone who takes part in this unique and rewarding program feels that they have truly gained something from the entire experience.

Tech Drama

Making it all look easy...

Working behind the scenes of a production is just as hard as being on stage. Being in Tech Crew takes dedication, self-discipline, and a desire to do hard work. Long hours after school are required to finish sets, learn when and where the lighting cues are, and to rehearse scene changes etc... All of this is done just to make the show run so smoothly that the audience doesn't know exactly how hard the work is.

The Tech Crew is responsible for the production of all the school plays, musicals, and concerts. So why do all these people stick it out and work so hard? As Elaine Futtner said, "Being with all my friends and learning to use all the sound equipment is a lot of fun."

Drama

"Tradition, Tradition!" is belted out by the members of the Drama Club during an afternoon rehearsal. And in keeping with the tradition of the past years, this year's musical was a success. This year's production of "Fiddler on the Roof" was shown on three nights, all to sold out audiences. Although the musical is the most well known of the Drama productions, the club also puts out smaller plays in the fall and spring.

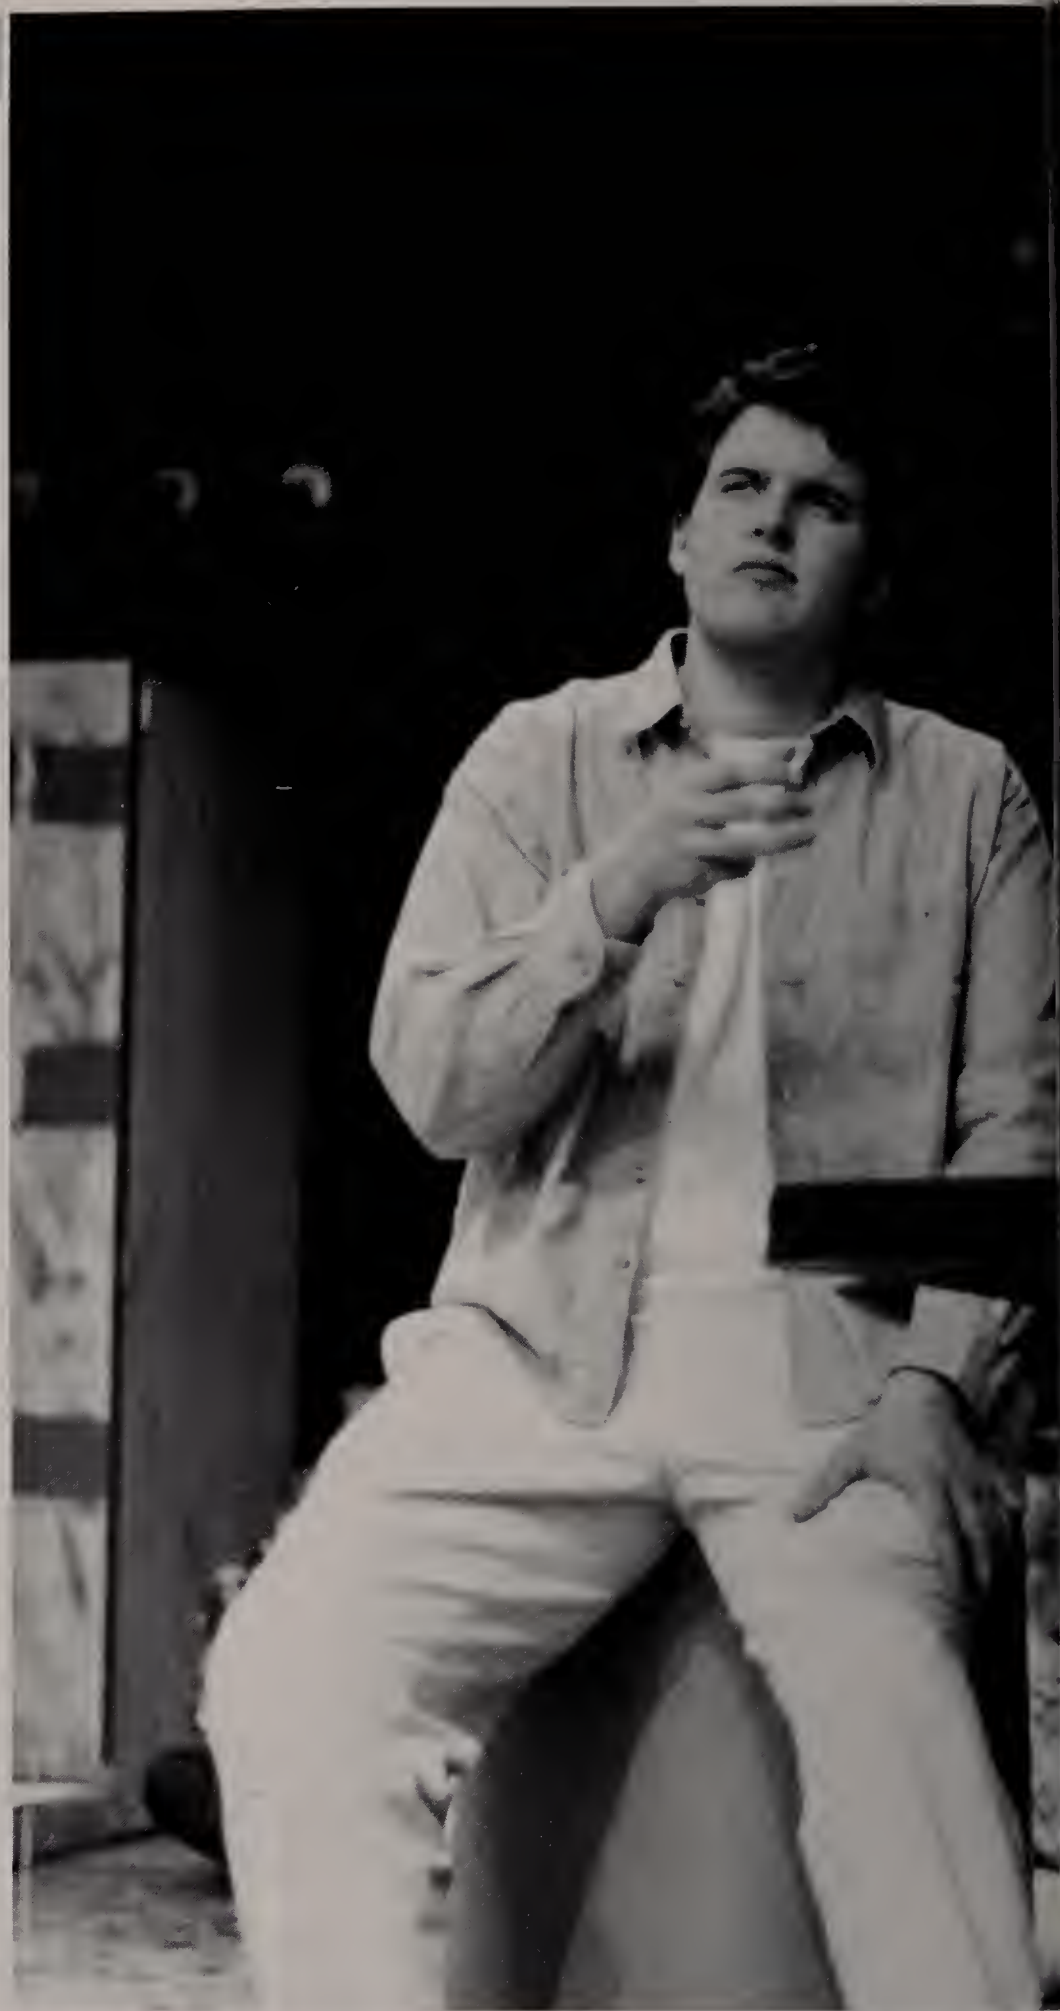

The musical is a grand production involving hundreds of people including the actors and actresses, supporting cast, dancers, technical crew, pit band members, and advisors. Being in the musical takes a lot of work and dedication, and it involves long hours of rehearsing after school and sometimes in the evening. But all this hard work paid off, because the talented members of the Drama Club put on one hell of a show.

U.N.I.T.Y

U.N.I.T.Y is made up of a diverse group of students from all cultural backgrounds. U.N.I.T.Y sponsors many events, such as the Kwanzaa dinner and celebration, the International Dinner, the talent show, and sports day. The twenty-five group members are headed by Ms. Schatteman, the advisor. There are many goals of this large and important group, but the most important goal is to educate the student body about cultural differences and to celebrate diversity. The events that they sponsor promote understanding of different cultures and lifestyles. This multi-cultural group is strongly helping to unite the student body.

Global Awareness

Those green construction paper covered boxes that you see in classrooms aren't just decoration, they are there for a reason: to recycle. The Global Awareness Club puts these boxes together and empties them out regularly. They also empty all the recyclable cardboard and other various waste from the office. This is an important job that leads to a cleaner school, better working atmosphere, and above all, an environment we all want to live in.

Amnesty International

The members of Amnesty International believe that individuals must work to protect human rights when governments fail to do so. There are about 15 to 20 amnesty members who write letters to government officials to urge for the release of all prisoners of conscience, for the granting of fair and prompt trials for all political prisoners, and for the end of torture and executions in all cases. The students have letter writing sessions every other week and education programs to make the student body more aware of the issue on human rights. The group also has fund raising events to support their cause.

Top: Mrs. Schatteman and Bryan Giansanti discuss their next letter writing campaign.

Mock Trial

Mock Trial deals with our judicial system. Students play the roles of prosecutors, defense attorneys and witnesses for both sides of a case. They learn about the kinds of questions to ask witnesses and the ways of being successful lawyers. The team argues in Manchester Superior Court with the Superior Court judges listening. This year's major case is about the shooting death of a young boy committed by another young boy. A trial takes place in two days. On one day, the team is prosecuting, and on the other, they are defenders. The team is judged on how well it presents its case.

The National Bicentennial is a national competition consisting of three levels. On March 6, they compete in a district competition. On March 12, they compete in a state competition. And in April the winner goes to Washington DC where they compete against other states. The National Bicentennial consists of six teams. Each of these groups has three questions that the judges might ask them at the competition. The questions and the text is an intense study dealing with the Constitution and the government, emphasizing individual rights, workings of the government on national and state levels and what America's role is in the world on issues such as human rights.

Model UN

The Model United Nations prepares to represent countries from around the world. Each student works within a delegation to represent a member of the United Nations. They research the backgrounds of country issues and they resolve them through the process of the United Nations.

Preparation requires a lot of independent study, resolution writing, interviewing of staff in New York, and the actual debate and voting process at a Model United Nations that is held annually at the University of Hartford and Harvard University. This involves several days of meetings with other student teams from around the state and from around the world.

The whole effort by the students is meant to replicate a real United Nations. Through this process, the students learn a great deal about other cultures, international issues, the democratic process and about leadership.

Students work in committee to develop a strategy and learn the facts necessary to make a point when it comes their time to debate the issues in front of the General Assembly.

Outing Club

Easing on down the road to adventure...

It was one of those times when you were excited, scared, no, make that terrified. Two six-foot boards made up of some high tech material were strapped to your feet. You were at the top of Stratton Mountain; it was 15 degrees F., and there was a 25 m.p.h. wind in your face. It was the first run of the new skiing season and you were with the Outing Club on a ski trip. You were about to take on Black Bear, an intermediate run.

going to die?, and most importantly, 4. Am I going to fall on my butt and make a complete idiot of myself or do an infamous face plant? These and many other questions came to your mind as you looked down at the slick, packed powder. As it turns out, you do none of the above. As a matter of fact, it's a perfect day, you have a great run, there's perfect weather conditions, and you're with good friends.

That's part of what the Outing Club is all about, whether it's skiing, hiking, horseback riding, canoeing, or any other outdoor activity, when you are with the Outing Club, you are guaranteed to have a great time.

The first run always brings questions to a skier's mind, such as 1. Do I remember how to ski? 2. Can I make the sharp corners? 3. Am I

Literary Magazine

"In My Mind's Eye" is the annual publication that the Literary Magazine puts out each year. This magazine is filled with a wide range of creative efforts, some enlightening and some saddening.

"In My Minds Eye" is written, put together, and published by a dedicated staff, led this year, by editor Beth Scanlon.

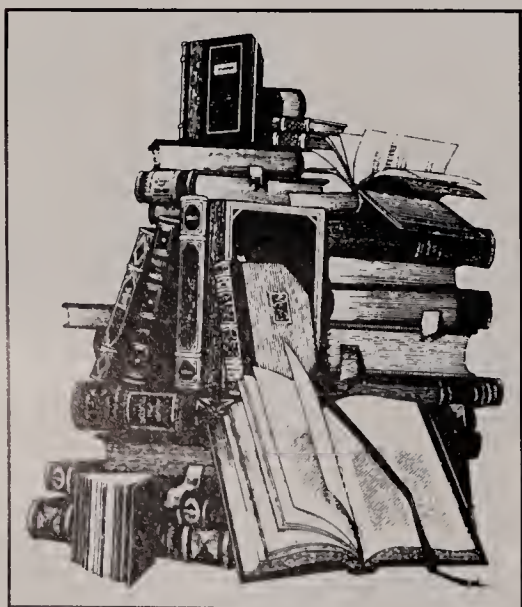

This group of creative and dedicated students face many difficult tasks when putting together the magazine. Full of thoughtful poetry, short stories, photographs and drawings, the literary magazine is a wonderful way in which students get to express what they feel.

Library Aides

The SWHS library, also known as the media center, was recently renovated. The renovations were designed to make the information contained in the library more accessible to students.

With the help of Mr. Schackner the library aides work to keep the media center neat and organized. Along with the usual chores of putting away books, dusting, and straightening, the library aides make themselves available to answer any questions that students or faculty members may have.

Academics

For some an easy journey

Centurion

It wasn't easy, but we got it done!

For a while it looked like this yearbook was not meant to be. Two classes were supposed to be able to share thier thoughts and ideas, on the theme, page layouts, story ideas and busi-ness strategies. Everyone said that if we worked together we would be able to produce one of the best yearbooks this school has ever seen. But, the arguments were never ending and trying to come up with a theme that would please everyone seemed next to impossible. Heck, there is still a bit of disagreement. Trying to decide what would go where was even worse.

Once the descisions were made, work was started, but with only a few weeks until the first deadline everyone felt the pressure. An entire forty-eight pages of this yearbook had to be turned in or the yearbooks would not be here in time for graduation. As the deadline approached there seemed to be so many things that still needed to be done. But by working during vacation the deadline was met.

Ads were being sold and the campaign to sell the yearbooks was well underway. All of the deadlines were met, but the staff did not get a chance to celebrate because there was still a lot of work left to do.

Editor, Lisa Daniell said, "This year we had a really great staff. Each member was able to contribute something unique to this yearbook and if even one person was missing it would not have been the same. A few students were also able to exhibit thier leadership skills and assume positions that were key to making this yearbook the success that it is. Our advisors were really great, too. They were very supportive and we could not have done this without them!"

The Southwinds

From idea to printed page, never an easy Journey!

Deadlines, "Haven't missed one yet. Well, we almost haven't missed one." says Mr. Nelson, advisor of The Southwinds.

Being one of the few high school newspapers in the state that is also published in-house, the ability to get the paper from raw stories and photographs to finished sheet with good design and all the right graphic elements in place is quite a task. Thursday afterschool is when the real action takes place. Students have written their stories and the photos have been taken and sized. The production crew now must do the paste-up, stripping and plate making that will allow the presspersons to print and fold the paper on Friday mornings.

The Southwinds has won numerous awards and receives high marks in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's judgments. The paper has been the product of the Journalism/Communications class for the past eight years. The class is team taught with Mr. Colpits teaching Journalism and Mr. Nelson teaching Graphic Communications.

"It's a good balance," says Mr. Colpits, "Willie (Mr. Nelson) and I bounce off each other in a constructive and unique way. He's somewhat of a radical liberal and I take a slightly more conservative approach to the newspaper issues at hand."

At the present time, The Southwinds works with three editors: two from the period 2 class and one from the period 3 class. This sometimes causes some confusion, but has allowed for the paper to be published more frequently.

Instrumental Music

For some it doesn't come easy, but for others, music is a way of life. It's a way of expressing themselves and enjoying the journey that their music takes them on.

The band members, clad in their black, maroon and gold uniforms, march proudly across the field to entertain the crowd during half time. The up-beat, peppy, music they play, brings the crowd to its feet. The crowd feels the music and keeps beat with it. As half times comes to an end, the band marches off the field while the spectators applaud their efforts.

At the annual winter concert the entire music department works together to produce an atmosphere that is appealing and inviting to all. Each group has their turn and offers the audience a variety of different musical styles. One of the most popular presentations is put on by the orchestra and vocal ensemble together. The audience is able to see the marvelous efforts of both groups at the same time and they love it.

The music department at SWHS is a very successful one. Many of the performance groups have won awards, but individual members have also been honored. Their talent and excellent team work have all contributed to the success of the music department.

It's not easy to stand before a crowd and play with such ease that people are instantly awe struck by the music that they hear, but the SWHS musicians make it look easy. It takes hours of practice, lots of rehearsals, and plenty of education. The time commitment is high and the only reward is the applause from the many audiences to whom they play.

Vocal Music

Hard work makes it look easy

Christmas caroling through the halls, singing in the mall, and traveling to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania to perform are some of the perks that comes with being a member of either vocal ensemble or choral spectrum. It isn't always fun though.

The work is hard and practicing takes up lots of time, but, in the end most students feel that it is worth it.

As sophomore Laura Woollett said, "There are a lot of people which makes it exciting and fun."

There is always a tremendous amount of team work that occurs each day. The essentials include sharing ideas, listening to each other and constant communication between everyone. This great team work has been the one main factor that has enabled the groups to get the recognition that they have gotten. Some students go even farther. Many of this years students have been recognized individually for their talents and they are taking part in states.

Don't be deceived by the ease at which they are able to sing. These dedicated students spend much time rehearsing and practicing to get everything just right. Trying to memorize the music and the words to each song is an entirely different issue. Achieving the success that they have achieved as a group is not an easy task, but these students make it look easy.

Art

The ease of the draw

The paintings, drawings, and various other peices of colorful artwork that are displayed in the showcases, and lobby at our school are only a small part of the things that are created in the art classes, here at South Windsor High School. South Windsor High School offers a wide variety of art courses to choose from. There are classes for drawers, painters, sculpters, and jewelry makers.

As senior Chris Albano said "South Windsor high school has a great art program that is far better than the previous programs that I have been enrolled in. All of the teachers in the art department are really friendly and they are also very helpful."

From Beowulf to Hamlet to Lord of the Flies, the English classes were busy at work discussing events, writing journals, and taking quizzes on some of the world's greatest literature.

Social Studies

The Mock Election, Model United Nations, Global Village, National Bicentennial Competition, and Mock Trial are some of the many activities sponsored by the social studies department each year. The Social Studies Staff makes learning challenging and fun at the same time. Through these activities the students get an understanding of our government and world affairs.

Science

"On your marks, get set, GO!" were the words echoing through the physics and chemistry hallways during the days of the Car Competition Championship. The student's assignment was to build a car that would go 30 ft. in the shortest amount of time. The trick was that the cars could only be powered by two rubber bands. The winner clocked in at under six seconds! It was a fun and valuable hands on experience for all that participated.

Physics is a senior year course that follows in the progression of classes after chemistry. This is a very interesting and challenging course that helps in college and in any chosen profession. This class also utilizes experiments, labs, and at-home building projects to help learn the material more efficiently.

Math

"I don't get it!" is a statement that you sometimes hear throughout the math hallway. But the students don't get upset. If their teachers can't get them to understand a problem, they can always go to the math lab for help. Math helps us prepare for the challenges ahead of us in the modern world.

Above: Joan Burke works diligently on her math homework so she won't have to do it at home.

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language department offers students a chance to not only learn new languages, but also to cultivate an appreciation for new cultures. Foreign language gives students a background which may be needed for certain jobs, vocations, as well as educational needs. During class time, students to speak, write, listen and learn a new language. SWHS teaches French, Spanish, and Latin. Russian and Japanese can be taken in conjunction with MCTC. Advanced students have the opportunity to travel to foreign countries such as Spain, France, and Mexico.

Students also participate in many activities within the classroom that help them experience foreign cultures. This year there have been Mardi Gras parties in French classes while the Mrs. Wilson's level 5 Spanish students gave puppet shows in Spanish.

All the Spanish classes participate in "Dia de los Muertos", a celebration similar to our Halloween. A jewelry sale is held to buy books for a village school in Nicaragua.

Child Development

Chils's play, not as easy as it looks!

The Learning Center is South Windsor High School's nursery school and the most important part of the Child Development program. Here, students get to interact with young children through group play, story time, circle time, outdoor play and the all important snack time. The class helps students learn about childhood behavior and how to deal with difficult situations they may encounter when dealing with young children.

Parents of young children (3 & 4 year olds) can register thier children for either the spring or fall semester. The Child development classes meet with these children from 8:30 untill the start of first lunch. Two different sections of young kids come to SWHS, one on Tuesday / Thursday and the other on Wednesday / Friday. Mondays are set aside for classroom discussions and class planning. A normal day for the SWHS students is made up implementing the day's activities that have been planned, getting arts & crafts supplies ready and cleaning up after the young kids are gone. Many SWHS students take this class because they are going into careers that involve working with young children.

Business

From business law to basic key-boarding and data entry, to accounting and record keeping, the Business department is keeping up with the modern business world. Once thought of as a place for secretarial trainees, the SWHS business department now has numerous courses for both males and females.

The business teachers are in touch with the changing needs of the local business community and now teach a wide range of subjects that allow SWHS students to get ahead in the business world. Using a networked IBM system and several other IBM compatible machines the Business Department is up to date with the standards of the industry.

Applied Technology

Everything you need to know you can find out in Applied Technology. From the basics of working with wood to the latest techniques in Video production this is where the action is.

Technology education gets into the world of Macintosh computers in journalism and yearbook, IBM compatible computers are used to teach robotics in Manufacturing, the basics of the laws of motion and energy are taught in the Power classes, Computer Aided Drafting (CAD) uses the new 486 powered computers. and Video production classes use the latest hi-tech equipment to make prize winning videos.

Technology classes and students have won many awards at the state and national level. The school newspaper is a top ranked publication by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, Drafting projects have traveled around the world on display, a joint team of tech students with their engineering counterparts from U. S. Fuel Cell have competed with their robot in New Hampshire and the Graphic Arts classes have won numerous Guttenberg Awards on the national level.

Physical Education

Sweaty bodies and bulging muscles. Does this sound like your gym class? If it doesn't, you're with 99% of the student body that takes gym. The senior class was spared from taking gym this year. Many students feel that seniors should have to take gym, but will be relieved when their senior year comes around and they won't have to. A lot of students don't mind taking gym. "Gym isn't that bad. It's better than taking a class," commented one student. The Physical Education staff spends time making gym more than just sweating. They try to inform the students of the benefits of staying healthy and being fit.

Work Activities Center

Work Activities is a generally unknown program here at South Windsor High School. This program is for students planning on working after high school. There are two parts to the program. The first part of the program involves academics. Here students receive the individualized attention that they need to complete their courses. Students have regular classes, tests, and finals, just like any other class, except they are taught with the one-on-one attention they need. The second part of the program is work training. During this time, students learn positive work behaviors such as focusing their full attention on the task, punctuality, and a cooperative attitude. Students start doing small jobs within the school, then move on to doing group jobs within the community. Students then find a job they are responsible for on their own. The goal of this program is to make sure the students become part of society, not a burden to it.

Boys' Basketball

The Journey both sweet and sour, but never easy

The boys' basketball team came into the season with the attitude that it would be a rebuilding year—the team had lost five starters from last season.

But the Bobcats led by senior tri-captains Ryan McCullough, Glenn Larson and Dave Festi, pulled the team together to start the season with an impressive three game winning streak. A strong force for the Bobcats emerged from the talented group of underclassmen. Jay Sylvia led the Bobcats in scoring, and had a great season. Sylvia ended up second in the CCC East in scoring. The team is looking forward for him to return next season. As teammate Greg Stillman said, "He is a talented player who fit right in with the team and provided us with some much needed scoring."

The leadership was evident in the senior tri-captains. Dave Festi gave the team direction with his great verbal leadership. Glenn Larson and Ryan McCullough set the pace in practice and games, with their enthusiastic play.

Juniors, Greg Stillman and Josh Thompson provided much needed backcourt help with their consistent passing and ball control. Kevin McKee and Mike Redd gave the Bobcats adequate help in the paint, coming in off the bench to relieve

Girls' Basketball

The girls' varsity basketball team, led by Coach Paula Funk and Tri-Captains Erin Byrnes, Dianne Warner, and Laurel Capson surprised many teams this year. The Bobcat's season began successfully before hitting a mid-season slump. After losing three games in row, the girls defeated first place Enfield, and in their next game, third place Hartford Public, which moved the Bobcats into third place in the conference.

The girls' entered the state tournament seeded 18th and played 15th seeded Plainfield. An overtime victory moved the Bobcats into the second round where they lost a tough game to 2nd ranked Seymour.

The Bobcats are only losing two Seniors, Erin Byrnes and Laurel Capson. Junior Dianne Warner and sophomore Cristi Carbone who were among the states leading scorers are returning along with a young, strong lineup. Look for the Bobcats to dominate their conference next year.

The Junior Varsity team, consisting of mostly freshman, is going to continue to build for the future.

The few players that played both varsity and J.V. will most likely hold a permanent spot on the varsity team next year. The girls' basketball program should be strong for seasons to come.

Cross Country

Running to start the Journey

The 1994 season for the Girls' Cross Country team was a season to remember. They ended the season with a 11-1 record, which is a great season. The team didn't have many injuries to deal with, which helped the team end with a good record. Senior Lauren Trembley comments "We, as a team, had a good season overall. We were a relatively young team, yet we matured all through the season." Seniors Lauren Trembley, Mariah Zorning, Eva Karapanos, and Jenny Salcius were the backbone of this season's young team. They led the way to a season that was good. Next year, the underclassmen will have a lot of work to contend with their opponents without the seniors, yet they will hopefully be ready when it comes to that time next year. The seniors that will be lost next year are definatitly looking forward to seeing how the young team does next year.

The Boys' Cross Country team ended the 1994 season with a 10-3 record. Their only loses were to Manchester and Windham, which are tough opponents. The team was lead by Seniors Nathan Goard and Glen Larson. These two seniors led the team to a great season, which is reflected in their record. This was Glen Larson's first season on the cross country team, yet it doesn't seem that way. Glen was one of the top scorers on the team, behind Senior Nathan Goard. The underclassmen will be ready to defeat their opponents next year when the time comes next year. The underclassmen have a lot of tough oppentants to compete with in the coming years, and hopefully their record will reflect their effort.

Cheerleading

It's not an easy job!

Both the winter and spring cheerleading squads worked hard to improve themselves. Both teams looked promising. The team is headed by two new and improved captains; Kelly Flaherty and Allison Russak. The teams both have old and new members. The newcomers have adjusted quickly to the practices and the routines of the squad. These routines are a little more complicated this year, and tend to entertain the crowds more, and get them riled up.

The cheerleading program has certainly improved for the better. They seem to bring with them a sense of school spirit that was missing at games and other school events. Overall the cheerleading program at South Windsor High School is headed in the right direction, and we should look forward to new and improved things from them.

Field Hockey

Tough road to the journey end

The girls' varsity field hockey team ended the 1994 season with a 12-4 record. There was a lot of pressure to live up to last year's performance in states, yet the team this year didn't let that get to their playing ability. The field hockey team came into the season looking to repeat as State Champions, which unfortunately, did not happen. The effort was definitely present, though. Senior Heather Tonkin said "The team, together, had a good season. We are a dedicated group, but we have fun playing, which is also important. I'll miss the team a lot." Having lost over 10 seniors from the 1993 season, the Bobcats had a relatively young team. Seniors Tori Calio, Heather Tonkin, Georgia Giamalis, Andrea Shiffler, and Stephanie Dieter did a good job of grouping the whole varsity team together, while leading the team. This probably happened because they have been playing together since middle school. Plus, they are all friends off the field, also. Junior Sarah Bergfeld has been with the team for three years, which also makes her a dedicated member of the team. Captains of the Field Hockey team were Stephanie Dieter, Tori Calio, and Georgia Giamalis. They possessed leadership skills, as well as scoring ability and defensive ability. The 8 seniors that were on the team in 1994 had all played together through their 4 high school years, which helped them all play together closely. The underclassmen will hopefully learn from them. Senior Stephanie Dieter comments "We all worked together, which we enjoyed doing, and it led to a great season! All the seniors on the team are great friends, so that helps us play a lot better." The underclassmen on the team have a lot of tough work ahead of them, in the coming years. They must defend the State Champions of 1993, as well as the great record of 1994. They will have to work hard to live up to the team of 1993 and 1994. The field hockey team of 1994 had a season that all the seniors will remember. The seniors will take with them memories of this season, and the championship of '93.

Football

Bobcat's season: Record not a reflection of the journey taken.

The football team entered the season with high hopes on improving upon a 5-5 record. The team had only 12 seniors and many of them had little playing time on varsity the previous season. The strength of the team was on the offensive line with seniors Jason Ball and Sean Yates anchoring the line. The running game was very effective with junior Mark Eichler and senior Matt Cyr.

The opening game of the season was against Wethersfield and the two teams battled back and forth. The Bobcats failed to stop Wethersfield on a 3rd and one situation to get the ball back and the final was 22-20 Wethersfield. Platt was next and they were able to force turnovers that lead to the 20-7 final. The Bobcats had to face 10th ranked Simsbury the following week. Simsbury controlled the game and won 33-6.

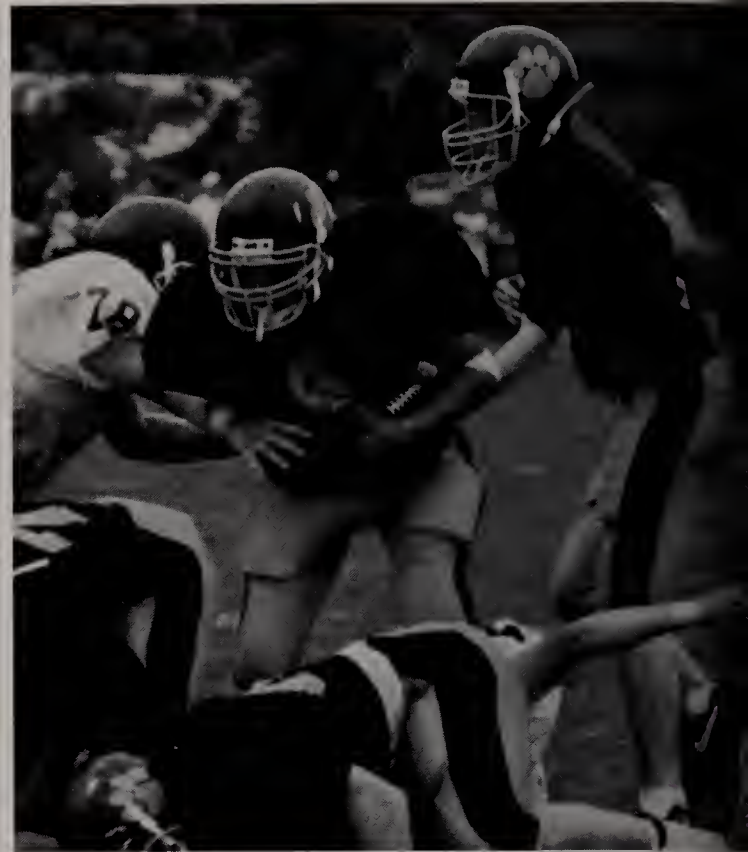

After three straight losses to out of conference opponents, the Bobcats began their C.C.C. East schedule with a game against Hartford Public. After trailing at halftime, the Bobcats came out in the second half and scored two touchdowns. Public's rally was stopped and the Bobcats had beaten the favorite to win the conference 14-12. The Bobcats faced Manchester the following week and defense helped the Bobcats win 19-14 on Manchester's homefield. After two emotional victories, the Bobcats were first in the conference until they played East Hartford and were beat 18-7. Enfield's offense was shut down by the Bobcat defense the following week and the Bobcats had a 26-0 win. In the homecoming game, Windham was able to hold off a late rally by the Bobcats and win 19-13. Fermi proved to be a little tougher than expected, but the defense sealed the fate of Fermi with a late touchdown to win 14-0. In the annual Thanksgiving game, South Windsor and Rockville turned the ball over a number of times to each other. A Rockville field goal in the fourth quarter proved to be the winner and the Bobcats fell 15-13.

Even though the Bobcats had a worse record than last year, they beat Hartford Public and Manchester two of the best teams in Class LL competition. They will be remembered as winners and not as a 4-6 team. Captain Jason Ball was named to the all-state team.

Gymnastics

Not an esy balancing act

Despite having to start out with a new coach this year, the gymnastics team was able to achieve their "small" victories. Freshman Kristan Langrebe stated "Even though we had a small team, everyone succeeded in their own way." The team was led by senior tri-captains Heather Tonkin, Megan Smith, and Julianne Madid. The team felt they had a very successful season, with Heather Tonkin advancing to the individual sate meet. Although they are losing three seniors, next year looks very promising, with many young talents.

Ice Hockey

Not always an Easy Journey up the ice

This year's ice hockey team finished with a much improved record of 8-12-1. The team made the division I state tournament for the first time in three years. Even though the team lost in the first round to the state champion Fairfield Prep team, the players were happy with the season overall. "We had a good bunch of kids with a lot of talent, but we just couldn't put it all together," stated senior Colombo DiSalvatore. There were, however, many highlights during the season, including beating Division II state champion rival Rockville twice. The team is losing 8 seniors including leading scorer Chris Laramée, third leading scorer Jay Frenette, Dan Sullivan, and defense leader Eli Williams. Other seniors include Mark Mailhot, Colombo DiSalvatore, Jeremy Clymer, and Sean Yates. The team will also lose sophomore Craig Laramée who was the team's second leading scorer to prep school, and junior Eric Rhoda could prove himself a competent goalie giving next year's team hope. The Bobcats have applied to become a Division II team for next year.

"This team was very close, everybody was friends before the season started which gave us an advantage in many areas," said Senior Chris Laramée. "We had the chemistry to go all the way. We had many talented goal scorers and good defense. All we needed was better goal tending and we could have won the state championship. We had great fan support and the parents were really good to us, which always helps out."

"We had a great time together, we won several important games and put a lot of pucks in the net, which is what we wanted to do," said Senior Jay Frenette.

Indoor Track

Keeping the Journey on track...

Students of South Windsor high school know to be careful after school because of the indoor track team. Since there is no indoor track at SWHS, the team is forced to run in the hallways and although they yell "CORNER" when coming to the end of a hallway near collisions with faculty and other students becomes a distinct possibility. This doesn't seem to affect the runners who fared extremely well this year. Both the Boys' and the Girls' teams had their moments in the sun (well indoor lighting anyway).

Senior Jason Ragosta won the state pole vaulting title in Class M competition. "The key to the pole vault is to plant, drive, and go with the bend of the pole," stated Jason. Another notable performance was turned in by the 4X400 team of Matt Cyr, Nathan Goard, Steve Brown and Mike Wysnowski. "The 4x400 team worked hard for the gold. Nate and the guys deserve it," said Jason. The team has potential for the future with the likes of Chris Smith, Jay Cooley, and Jim Parrison.

The girl's team was second in the state meet with key performances by Senior Jen Salcius and Freshman star Maura Danhay. Erika Rogasky, Katie Mcgray, and Beth Sherman also turned in strong efforts. "When a group of individuals work together as a team, anything is possible," stated Erika. The team's highest performance came from Maura Danhay in finishing second in the 3200 meters.

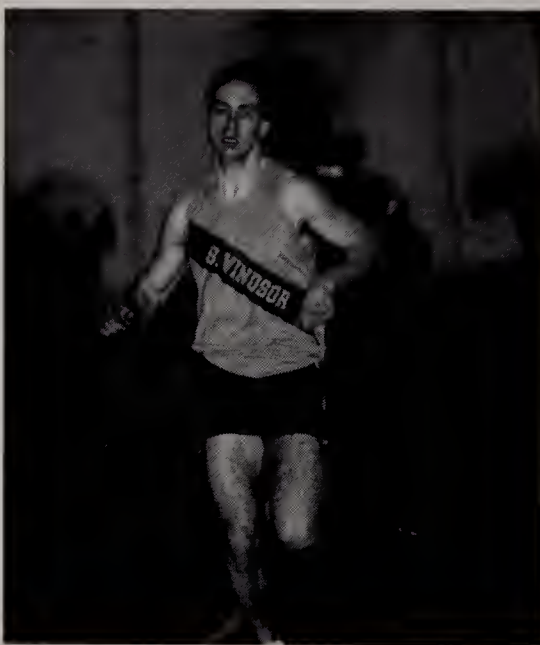

The Bobcats will return a number of top athletes next year which will help continue the stride to be number one in the state.

Boys' Soccer

The results of the journey well worth the effort put in.

The South Windsor Boys' Varsity Soccer Team came into the season with high hopes. With their eye on the CCC East crown, the Bobcats began the season with an 8-3-1 record.

"I think we were at our peak when we had our showdown with Manchester," stated senior Mike Vittner. "We were coming in with a record of 5-1 and we were riding high. We lost on a cheap goal in double overtime. The loss hurt!"

After the tough loss to Manchester, the Bobcats went on a slide that cost them the title. The Bobcats lost 5 of their last 9 games, including the last 3.

"I wouldn't consider the season a failure," Junior Dan Cain stated. "I had a great time and so did the rest of the team. The team had it's best record ever in CCC East play and that means alot."

One high point of the season was the win at Rockville. It was a very physical game where a more talented South Windsor team beat a tough Rockville team. The game featured two red cards and three yellow cards, all distributed to the Rockville team.

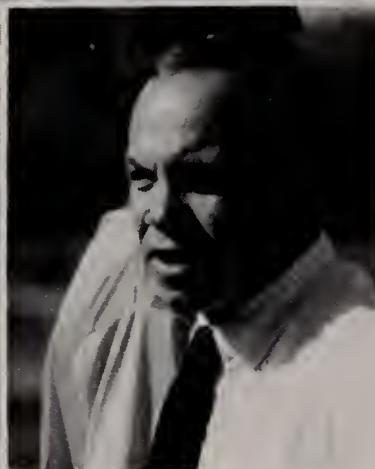

"I can't say enough about the young men on the team during the Rockville game. They kept their composure and played with their hearts. That's all a coach could ever ask for," stated Coach Jack Longo.

The Bobcats qualified for states for the second straight season. Their first game was against Bunnel High School. The home crowd watched as the Bobcats put on a clinic, beating Bunnel 4-0.

"They were just a step or two behind us," stated Senior Justin Novick. "We really took it to them. It felt good!"

The Bobcats found their match when they traveled to face #2 Bethel. South tallied first with a goal by Mike Wisnowski, the Bethel fans were stunned. The Wildcats, 19th ranked in the country, had never trailed all season. It was 1-1 at halftime. The second half was quite different as Bethel scored four unanswered goals. South's, teary eyed seniors watched as Bethel celebrated a 5-1 victory.

South graduates 7 seniors from the team, but should still have the talent to contend for the CCC East crown next year.

Girls' Soccer

Not an Easy Journey to be Conference champs

The Girls' soccer team had an excellent season finishing 14-2-3. The season ended in the semifinals of the state tournament with the Bobcats losing to a strong Wethersfield team, 2-1, on a cold November day.

"This season was great, it was very successful. I am proud to be a captain of this team, and I will miss everybody. I couldn't ask for anything more than being conference champions," said Senior Teresa D'Achino.

The team's goals for the season were to repeat as conference champions and to make the State Tournament. With strong offensive and defensive skills they achieved their goals. The team had ten very skilled sophomores, three juniors, and four seniors. This team was the strongest in the history of SWHS and had five players named all-conference and two players named to the all-state team.

The two captains, Teresa D'Achino and Allison Conte, led the team to many victories. Beating Manchester was a great success, and led to the Bobcats being the sole conference champions.

With a number of injuries during the preseason, the team wasn't sure of where they stood or how good they were, but opening regular play by beating Hartford Public 9-0, set the tone for the Bobcat's season. Their next game was against Fermi, and this is when the Bobcats knew that the rest of the league was not going to be an "easy journey".

Beating Manchester at Manchester is never an easy task, but this team met the challenge and defeated the Indians 2-1. At the end of the game, the SWHS girls all piled on one another in the middle of the field and a feeling of euphoria existed. It was a win that the soccer team will always remember.

The team didn't have one player that stood out over any other, but all worked together. That is why this team is so special.

Volleyball...

No Easy Victories

This year's volleyball team, led by co-captains Debbie Jarvis and Heather Kinsley, has been through it all. Beginning the season in a slump, losing five games in a row, the Bobcats finally pulled together and went on a seven game winning streak. "Everyone worked really hard on working together as a team," said coach Tina Rezendes. Although they lost in the first round of the state tournament, the girls worked very hard. Coach Rezendes also explained that "The team showed heart and effort to get out of their slump."

The Junior Varsity team gives us something to look forward to in the upcoming year. The team consists of several talented young players who will become major assets for the Varsity team in the future. A few of the J.V. players were also given the opportunity to travel with the varsity team to states.

"Heights of great men, sought and kept, were not attained by sudden flight, but they, while they companions slept, were toiling upwards into the night."

Dear Richard,

Truly this quotation typifies your quest for the best education you could obtain. The long hours and sleepless nights have paid off.

"Smile," you will have to make your own 4:am wake up calls. You have the ability to make this world a better place, so go for it, and make an impact on society.

Congratulations and best wishes as you go on to college.

We all love you, God bless.
